

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

One Balmy Night.

My Lady's rest was calm and deep:
She had been gazing at the moon;
And thus it chanced she fell asleep
One balmy night in June.

Freebooter winds stole richest smells
From roses bursting in the gloom,
And ruffled half-blown daffodils
And lilies of perfume.

These dainty robbers of the South
Found "Beauty" sunk in deep repose,
And seized upon her crimson mouth,
Thinking her lips a rose.

The wooing winds made love full fast—
To rouse her up in vain they tried—
They kissed and kissed her, till at last,
In ecstasy they died.

—JAMES BARRON HOPE.

St. John's Episcopal Church at Wilmington, N. C., was the scene of a beautiful and fashionable wedding celebration,

THANKSGIVING PSALM
A Rhythmic and Grateful Chant.

A teacher in a Terre Haute public school, Johns in the chorus.
"An astute business man requires a great deal of brain and nerve force. Unless this force is renewed as fast as expended the teacher is exhausted before the close of the year. Many resort to stimulating tonics for relief.

"For 3 years I struggled against this almost complete exhaustion, getting what relief I could from doctor's tonics. Then in the spring of 1903, I had an attack of la grippe and malaria which left me too weak to continue my work. Medicine failed to give me any relief, a change of climate failed. I thought I should never be able to go back in school again. I ate enough food (the ordinary meals, white bread and vegetables), but was hungry after meals.

"I happened at this time to read an article giving the experience of another teacher who had been helped by Grape-Nuts food. I decided to try Grape-Nuts and cream, as an experiment. It was a delightful experience, and continued so after a year and a half of constant use. "First, I noticed that I was not hungry after meals.

"I a few days that tired feeling left me, and I felt fresh and bright, instead of dull and sleepy.

"In three months, more than my usual strength returned, and I had gained 15 pounds in weight.

"I finished the year's work without any kind of tonic—was not absent from duty even half a day.

"I am still in the best of health, with all who know me wondering at the improvement.

"I tell them all, 'Try Grape-Nuts!'" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE WHITE PEACOCK

By WILLIAM SHARP.

William Sharp, author and critic, was born in Scotland, 1856. Was educated at Glasgow. In his youth was a great friend of Dante Rossetti, whose biography he wrote. Has written a great deal of poetry and some novels.

HERE where the sunlight
Floodeth the garden;
Where the pomegranate
Rears its glory
Of gorgeous blossom;
Where the oleanders
Dream through the noontides;
And, like surf 'o' the sea
Round cliffs of basalt,
The thick magnolias
In billowy masses
Front the sombre green of the lilies:
Here where the heat lies
Pale blue in the hollows,
Where blue are the shadows
On the fronds of the cactus,
Where pale blue the gleaming
Of fern and cypress,
With the cones upon them
Amber or glowing
With virgin gold:
Here where the honey-flower
Makes the heat fragrant,
As though from the gardens
Of Gullistan,
Where the bulbul singeth
Though a mist of roses,
A breath were borne
Here where the dream-flowers:
The cream-white poppies
Silently waver,
And where the Scrocco,
Faint in the hollows,
Foldeth his soft white wings in the sunlight,
And lieh sleeping
Deep in the heart of
A sea of white violets:

Here, as the breath, as the soul of this beauty
Moveth in silence, and dreamlike, and slowly,
White as a snow-drift in mountain valleys
When softly upon it the gold light lingers:
White as the foam of the sea that is driven
O'er billows of azure agleam with sun-yellow:
Cream-white and soft as the breasts of a girl,
Moves the White Peacock, as though through the noontide
A dream of the moonlight were real for a moment.
Dim on the beautiful fan that he spreadeth,
Foldeth and spreadeth abroad in the sunlight,
Dim on the cream-white are blue amblings,
Shadows pale in their delicate lumblings,
That visions they seem as of vanishing violets,
The fragrant white violets veined with azure,
Pale, pale as the breath of blue smoke in far woodlands.
Here, as the breath, as the soul of this beauty,
White as a cloud through the heats of the noontide
Moves the White Peacock.
